YourNextSpeaker Relocates for Growth

EDMOND – YourNextSpeaker, LLC, a professional speaking and training firm in Edmond, announced its move recently to offices at 15 E. Hurd.

“This move is focused on better serving our clients,” said Rhett Laubach, owner of YourNextSpeaker. “Getting out of their typical work environment, companies and organizations can better focus on team-building and leadership skills. The new office provides this opportunity.”

YourNextSpeaker works with organizations, businesses and individuals to develop their effectiveness by honing leadership skills, sharpening speaking abilities, creating a team environment and igniting a passion for their work. Programs include conference keynotes, seminars, communication training and speech coaching.

Rhett Laubach is a professional speaker, author and leadership expert. He presents over 250 motivational programs each year. Laubach’s interactive, educational and energetic programs have served audience members for over 10 years, in 30 states, to over 250,000 individuals. He has also coached hundreds of executives, students and professionals with their communication skills.
